To Whom It May Concern,

As a professional Truck Driver I have been a subscriber to XM Satellite Radio for about 2 years. They are now providing a valuable service to the Trucking Industry by including continuous Local Traffic & Weather Reports in major U.S. Cities. In my industry time is money! and if I can avoid a crash that has caused a 2hr backup on I-10 in Los Angeles with the help of XM's reporting, then I'm happy, my company is happy, and our customer is happy! XM is simply providing a service which I pay for, that no local station can or will provide. I myself and other drivers have been able to help one another by relaying the important information XM is giving us via the C.B. Radio. I feel the National Association of Broadcasters should stop their whining to the FCC and learn how to compete in the marketplace. XM has a service that over 1 million people enjoy and are willing to pay for. Capitalism is working just fine, so tell the NAB to go away and stop wasting the FCC's time.

Sincerely,

Robert K. Reuwer
